Civic Group Studies Utility Financing

FAIRLESS HILLS, Sept. 14—The Fairless Hills Civic Association is making a study to find a method for long-term financing for a water and sewerage system for this community, according to Elder Hacker, vice-president of the group.

Hacker said the Falls Township Authority is cooperating in the study. The authority operates the water and sewerage system and is presently financed by a three-year loan from the pension fund of the Fairless Works of the U. S. Steel Corp.

Householders in Fairless Hills pay about $75 annually for water and sewerage facilities, Hacker said. He pointed out there was some hope of obtaining lower rates in the future.

Group May Petition Fine For Action On Sewage Odors

FERGUSONVILLE, Sept. 14 — The Fergusonville Community Center and Improvement Association is considering writing to Governor John S. Fine and asking him to investigate the use of two uncovered lagoons for sewage disposal.

The possibility of writing to the Governor and to the Secretary of the State Board of Health was left to the discretion of the group's improvement committee, pending action by the township board of health.

The plan was discussed at last week's meeting of the association. A letter from George A. Elias, regional director of the State Board of Health, was read. According to the letter, a permit has been granted the Danhurst Corp. by the Sanitary Water Board, giving it permission to operate a sewage plant in a partially completed condition, "contingent upon the expeditious completion of the plant."

Association members, disturbed by the odors from the uncovered lagoons, asked when the situation would be cleared up, and suggested writing to the governor and the state board of health.

Harry D. Morrell, Democratic candidate for township commissioner, third ward, was featured speaker at the meeting. Walter Bowker, Republican candidate for the position, will speak at the Oct. 8 meeting.

The association elected Roy Hansen president of the group. Other officers elected at the meeting were: vice - president, George Quinn; Recording Secretary, Henry Kleckner; Corresponding Secretary, Dorothy Quinn; Treasurer, Dorothy Cotschott; Financial Secretary, Ruth Hansen; Housemen, Glenwood Branch and William Lewis and trustees, Wilson Cubler, Loretta Charlton, William Lewis and Thomas Hecker.

Steppping into a rowboat, the officers were rowed out to Gallagher by a neighbor, Joseph O. Seader, of 723 Newportville road, who resigned as township police chief several months ago. The creek is 20 feet deep, the officers said.

Jayne grasped Gallagher's undershirt as the boat approached him, and with the aid of Chapin and Seader pulled him into the boat. Bucks County Rescue Squad illuminated rescue with flood lights. Gallagher resisted his rescuers, shouting vociferously, "Throw me back in again." He said "family troubles had ended his will to live."

Writhing wet and still vowing to take his life, Gallagher was taken to Bristol jail and booked for a hearing on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Court Denies Plea Of Levittown Man To Drop Charges

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 14 — A plaintiff who made charges of aggravated assault and battery against Michael Hrin, 57 Friendly lane, Levittown, was denied the opportunity to withdraw them by President Judge Hiram H. Keller on the ground that the grand jury had returned an indictment.

David P. Alexander, 136 Lake drive, Levittown, described by the court as an innocent bystander, was struck in the face and his nose broken by Hrin in a brawl at the Levittown swimming pool, according to the true bill returned by the jury.

District Attorney Willard S. Curtin, acting on the plea of Alexander, was denied the privilege of withdrawing the charges.

"We do not have the right to assume all the responsibility of withdrawing the charges after the grand jury has seen fit to return a true bill," said Judge Keller.

"Had the private prosecutor indicated he wanted the charges dropped before the grand jury passed on them," Judge Keller continued, "and had it been agreeable to the district attorney's office, it would have been another matter."

"Hrin must stand trial. We will not tolerate this dropping the charges after the grand jury has made its findings of the facts."

Rescue Squad Gets Token of Thanks From Phila. Firm

Emergencies are routine for the Bucks County Rescue Squad. But to the people who are helped by the squad, the service is inestimable.

Today the Courier office received a letter placing high compliment on the squad together with a $50 contribution to the squad, as a token appreciation. The letter and contribution came from the Eastern Sales and Advertising company of Philadelphia, to encourage the group in its "important field of emergency community social services."

Reason for this was that D. M. McQuilkin of Jenkintown, a representative of the firm, suffered a heart attack while in Edgely on business recently. The Rescue Squad dispatched a jeep with an oxygen unit for first aid. A short while later a squad ambulance arrived and took the ailing man to Abington Hospital.

Later Mr. McQuilkin said he felt the promptness and efficiency of the squadmen possibly saved his life.

William Meyer, president of the squad, expressed appreciation for the compliment, but said emergency situations were work-a-day for squadmen.

Former Korean war prisoner, Cpl. Attilio Cauti, of 902 Spring street, telephoned his family yesterday from Washington, D. C., and said he might see them today for the first time in almost five years. His last visit home was on a furlough Nov. 9, 1948.

Attilio said he expects to be shipped today to Fort Dix, N. J., where his brothers, Camillo and Anthony, and brothers-in-law, Glenn Hines and Veto Marseglia, will immediately go to greet him, and bring him home if possible.

Attilio, imprisoned 37 months in North Korea, was freed two weeks ago at Panmunjom in Operation Big Switch. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olindo Cauti, with brothers and sisters and nephews and nieces assembled at a birthday party when his liberation was announced, received it with shouts and prayers.

Family Gathered

Last weekend the family gathered at Attilio's home, awaiting his arrival. With a civic committee prepared to extend a hearty welcome, and a large "Welcome Home" sign in front of the house, the Cautis stood by all day Friday and Saturday with no news of the soldier.

Yesterday the telephone rang at 7 a. m. Attilio's mother, Mrs. Aglisa Cauti, dressing to go to mass, answered it. The mother's happy shriek told the rest of the family that Attilio was calling.

He asked to speak to everybody in his family, and then called back at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. to talk some more, asking for all the news of Bristol.

The soldier did not discuss his long prison ordeal, his family said, but said he was well, and anxious to return home. He said he weighs 160 pounds. According to members of his family, Attilio before being captured weighed 185.

Awaiting Word

Anxiously awaiting word from Attilio, with the Cautis and the welcoming group, were many friends of the family who constantly called the house for information. "The phone rang 1,000 times," Hines said. "And everybody would make a dash for it, thinking Attilio was calling."

If Attilio arrives today, the committee plans to hold a street dance in front of his home this evening. Chairman Horace P. Schmitt announced. A sound truck, and mobile lighting units have been ready since Friday night.

Saturday night, the committee plans a dance on Radcliffe street from Penn to Dorrance street, in front of the American Legion Home. Civic and patriotic organizations will parade. Final arrangements will be made at a meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Elks home.

Grand Jury Asks Bed Inspections At County Home

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 14 — The September Grand Jury suggested regular inspections of beds in Neshaminy Manor House, the county home in Doylestown township. The jury's report pointed out the aged patients there spend considerable time in bed.

The exterior of the building is badly in need of painting, the report stated. In addition a sun porch should be added to the building to provide light and air for convalescents in both winter and summer.

Widening and paving of the sidewalk along county property on North Broad street was also suggested by the jury. Other suggestions included eradication of crowded conditions in the Orphans Court Office and institution of measures to protect valuable records against fire, and improvement of lighting conditions in Court Room 2.

The Grand Jury reported the County Prison to be clean, well-kept and efficiently administered. Earl D. Handy is warden.

The jury returned 57 true bills of 63 bills of indictment. Two bills were withdrawn by the District Attorney's office and four bills were returned as not true. Norman L. Kuehner was foreman of the jury and Pauline G. Messina the secretary.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY

DOYLESTOWN, September 14 — Miss Clara Ethel Brubaker, 174 W. Allegheny avenue, Phila., and Stephen Hecker, of Trevoise, were fined $25 each and the costs of prosecution by Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite Friday when they pleaded guilty to morals charges.

Landreth Seed Co. for an eight-day striking office clock, and a watch to be sent to one of the Landreth customers in Calcutta, India. The timepieces will be sealed in a tin box before shipment in order to provide against damage from dampness on the voyage across the ocean.

The steamer "Bristol" made its first trip of the season up the river from Philadelphia yesterday. The boat was formerly known as the Sue. It has been remodelled and refitted. The "John A. Warner" will resume her trips next week, but it is doubtful if the old familiar boat, which has plied the river for so many years will be recognized. The name has been changed to the "Burlington," and all the work above the decks is new, the old cabins and saloons were torn down to the decks, and new ones built. The "Columbia" goes into dock on Monday for inspection.

A special convention of the school directors of Bristol borough was held in the directors' room in the high school building on Tuesday evening for the purpose of electing a superintendent of the borough schools to serve for three years and also to set the salary for the office. The directors present were Doron Green, H. S. Rue, E. H. Foster, W. G. Buckman, M. D. Harrison, D. A. Barrett, Dr. W. C. LeCompte. The salary for the position of superintendent was first considered and by unanimous action placed at $1000 per annum. This is an increase of $200 over the amount during the past three years. An application for the position of superintendent from Miss Louise D. Baggs, the present incumbent, was read and her name placed in nomination. There being no other applicant, a viva voce vote was taken and Miss Baggs was declared elected.

Patent Attorney F. Max Gress, of Trenton, has been informed of the allowance for a client of his, Charles R. Pidcock, of Bristol, of a patent for a metallic toggle holder. It will house the auto supplies, sporting good and bicycle departments. These sections of the main store will be closed until the opening of the parking lot store.

Citizen Planners Request Creation Of Park Board

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 14 — Proposal for the creation of a Bucks County Park Commission was made by the Citizens Committee for Bucks County Planning in a brochure scheduled for mailing today.

Some 5000 copies of the brochure would be sent to the County Commissioners, local officials and residents, according to Warren A. Custer, president of the group.

Custer said there was a lack of public park and recreational facilities in the county and pointed out that not much could be done about the situation until a park commission was established.

He said such a commission would enable the county to accept grants of land for recreational purposes from public spirited residents. Under a park commission arrangement the county could acquire lands through purchase.

Richard W. Fechtenburg, member of the board of directors of the Citizens Council, said the state had been offered a site at the confluence of the Delaware River and Nesquehanna Creek for a park which has not been accepted. He said with a park commission the county might be able to acquire the site.

'Hills' Methodists Approve Plans For New Church

FAIRLESS HILLS, Sept. 14 — Unanimous approval was given yesterday by membership of Fairless Hills Methodist Church for erection of a new edifice to cost approximately $250,000.

The church will be located on a five-acre tract where the temporary edifice is now located on Hultmeville-Trenton road.

At a congregational meeting, attended by 250, six recommendations of the official board were unanimously adopted. It is anticipated that contract will be awarded by December, and construction started by mid-winter.

Walter Jackson, chairman of the official board, was presiding officer; with Mrs. Verner Peterson, board secretary, reading the recommendations of the board to the congregation.

Plans call for a sanctuary, tower, "overflow" room, parlor, kitchenette, snack bar, and an additional Sunday School room.

The main sanctuary will have capacity for 550, and the overflow room capacity for 100.

The proposal adopted is that the structure be of native stone, be built above ground, with no basement.

A. Hensel Fink is to be engaged as architect.

When the five-acre tract is graded, allowances will be made for extension of parking lot and second driveway.

Shop Center Incident Points Up Problem

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 14 — There is a potential juvenile problem in mushrooming Lower Bucks County, Sydney Meth, noted criminologist and consultant on juvenile problems in Tullytown, said today.

"Wherever there is boom country, where families move into new surroundings, where youngsters are torn from all their familiar ties, there is bound to a problem," Meth declared.

The problem is not serious now, but unless residents and civic groups of Lower Bucks County try to do something about the teenager there will be a serious problem, he said.

Meth, who is professor of sociology at Rider College, Trenton, N. J., and superintendent of Levittown Guard Service Inc., said preventive methods were in order though he admitted there was no ready solution to the problem.

"Youngsters who have been separated from all their old friends and their hangouts are going to go places like the Levittown Shopping Center. They have no other place to go," Meth said.

"The teenager is neither child nor adult. If he tries to talk about a serious subject he is told to act his age. If he does something childish he is told to grow up. It is not surprising that he gets into scrapes sometimes."

Meth referred to the recent fight in the Levittown Shopping Center in which a 14-year-old boy received a cut on the mouth during an argument and fight with another youth.

Tullytown Police Chief John Walterick said his department has received complaints of teenagers racing their bicycles through the shopping center, setting off firecrackers, and otherwise disturbing shoppers.

He said his officers have tried to be lenient with the youths, but indicated that some kind of restriction may have to be instituted.

Walterick said it was understandable that youngsters would be attracted to the bright lights of the center, but they will have to behave, he warned.

lic to exercise great care during the dry season to prevent fires.

Suggest Solicitor

W. L. Stackhouse, Doylestown, for the executive committee, suggested that a solicitor be employed by the association. Another suggestion was made that children starting fires be sent to a special school rather than to a House of Detention.

Walter Hayman, Doylestown, spoke in favor of this. The group encouraged Mr. Hayman and the matter is to be investigated.

The Stockham Memorial committee were continued and they are to make a report at the December meeting.

Mr. Graham reported for the Bucks County Planning Commission, also that the Bucks County firemen will have a Fire Prevention booth at Middletown Grange Fair, Oct. 6th and 7th.

CD Air Raid

Mr. Stackhouse, Doylestown, announced that on Oct. 6th at seven p. m., there will be a state wide civil defense air raid. This will be the beginning of Fire Prevention week, when a fire prevention school will start. All firemen are urged to send as many men as possible to the school.

The financial secretary urged a committee be appointed on membership; after approval, the following committee was appointed: Frank Faust, New Hope; Lawrence Gilmore, Lahaska; Clarence Snell, Discussion was held on whether to hold six meetings a year instead of four. A vote was taken revealing 10 no's and nine affirmative answers. The group will continue to meet four times a year.

Discussion was held concerning companies who can't entertain the Association. Mr. Stackhouse told the group he felt every community would have meeting facilities and if the company didn't have the financial standing, the County Association should assume some responsibility, so each company in the County could entertain at some time.

Raymond Strunk, Quakertown, proposed that the Association look forward to having their own building, where meetings and fire schools could be held.

The matter was brought up about entrance to the proposed Turnpike in case of fire or an emergency for firement or rescue units. Mr. Stackhouse is to investigate and report at the December meeting.

Refreshments were served to approximately 100 in the school cafeteria.

teria by the Auxiliary members of Fallington Fire Co.

Church Lays Corner Stone At Levittown

LEVITTOWN, Sept. 14 — Members of the the congregation of the Levittown Reformed Church yesterday took part in corner stone laying ceremonies at the site of their new building, Levittown parkway and Sexton lane.

Following a brief service at Old Edgely School, under the direction of the Rev. Robert A. Geddes, field secretary for church extension, the Reform Church in America, the group traveled by car to the church site.

Rev. E. Bert Bronte, pastor of the church, conducted the service at the site. He read a document he had prepared, giving the history of the congregation from its first Sunday School service on March 1.

A copy of the history was placed in the corner stone along with a copy of the Bible, a copy of the denomination's magazine, a copy of the August issue of a religious publication, featuring an article on the Levittown church, the program of the day's service, the list of churches contributing to church's building fund and copies of yesterday's newspapers.

The documents were placed in the corner stone by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Zitzner, 165 Bald Cypress lane, the first people to sign the application for charter membership in the congregation. Rev. Bronte and Thomas Pollock, 44 Shade Tree lane, laid the corner stone.

HAVE YOU TRIED WONDER BREAD LATELY?

Made With Even Better Quality Protein Flour To Give You A Better Loaf Of Bread

Surveys Show 1 Out Of 2 Children Fail To Get The Recommended Amounts Of Food-Energy For Normal Weight And Growth Gains.

In Just 7 Days Start Your Child Growing Again With Wonder Bread!

The Bread That Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways!

Note How Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, Fish and Eggs—See Chart

Children go for Wonder Bread because it's Doubly Fresh!

An average boy of 10 should gain about 6 pounds in one year.

Which is at the rate of $\frac{1}{2}$ pound per month; or less than 2 ounces each week. But any time your child fails to gain puts her or him that far behind.

Why Lack of Food-Energy Causes Weight and Growth Loss
Carbohydrate and fat supply food-energy. Protein supplies the "building blocks" of growth.

Now Nature cannot use carbohydrate and fat alone for growth, but it can use protein for energy.

Thus, when your child fails to get enough carbohydrate and fat food-energy, Nature uses the protein for food-energy instead of growth.

The result: Your child's growth is stunted.

Wonder Bread Helps Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

A well-balanced diet calls for meat, milk, eggs, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables. And carbohydrate food for energy. Like Wonder Bread.

Because not only does Wonder Bread supply food-energy but protein. Study the chart and see how Wonder Bread helps build bigger and stronger bodies 8 ways.

To encourage your child to eat a well-balanced diet and 8 slices of Wonder Bread each day, show him or her this ad. Because it shows how any boy or girl can grow bigger and stronger 8 ways—which is what they want to excel in their favorite sports.

Measure your child in the doorway. Make a pencil mark now. Then in 3 months and 6 months—watch the mark shoot up!

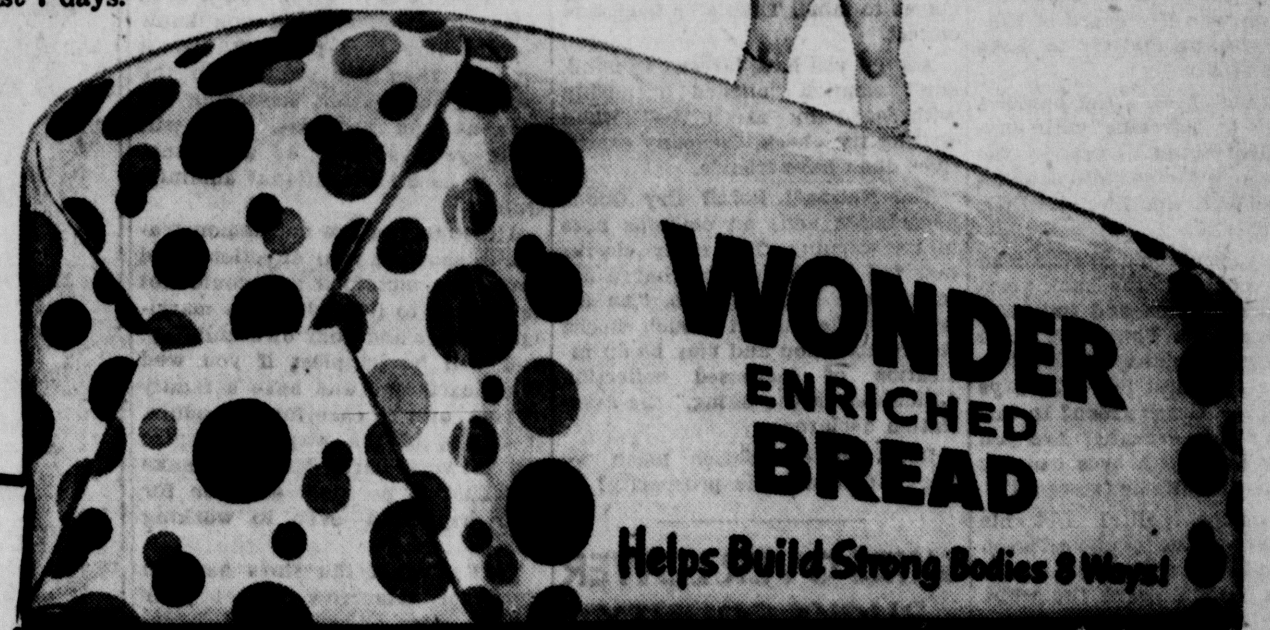

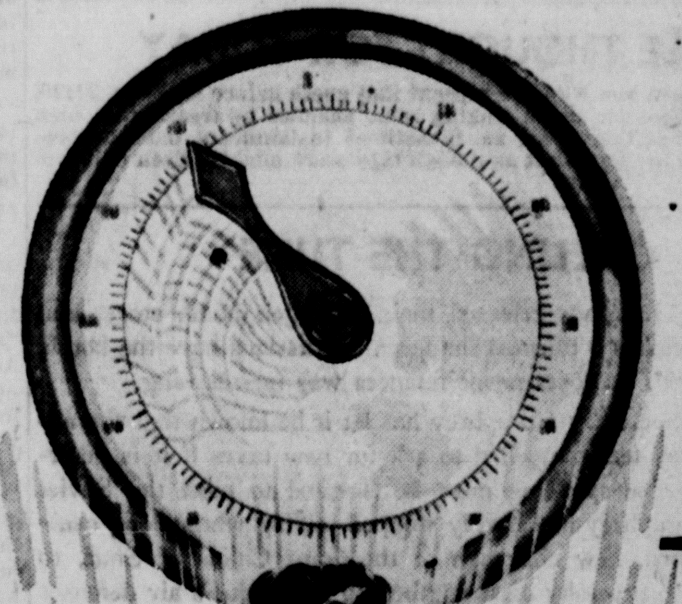

Get Wonder Bread Today

Wonder Bread is a wonderful food. Because it helps build strong bodies 8 ways.

And Wonder Bread has a wonderful flavor. Because it is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

CALLING THE TUNE

When the Russians released their hydrogen bomb story, and Washington officials confirmed the fact the Russians have the bomb, the impact on U. S. government finances was far-reaching.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey has let it be known that the administration may feel compelled to ask for new taxes if it is determined that defense spending must be elevated to meet the Soviet threat. Mr. Humphrey had hardly stopped talking when along came Admiral Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to intimate that the necessity of strengthening the nation's air defenses is virtually a fore-gone conclusion.

The President will have the semi-final say in this difficult decision—a choice made more delicate because of its potentially harsh implications on the national political scene. Congress will, of course, have the final say.

But it is a fact that when the Soviets came up with the H-bomb they returned stronger than ever to the accustomed position from which they have been calling the tune for America to dance to.

Since World War II the United States has been unable to set a course for domestic policies without taking a reading in international heavens. When plans were laid earlier in the year to trim U. S. budgetary sails the skies appeared to be clearing slightly. Since the heavy overcast has come up, who will say how much additional canvas is needed to reach a safe haven?

Bad Check Cashing Requires Technique

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (INS)—Have you encountered increased difficulty recently in cashing rubber checks?

If so, the blame can probably be divided equally between (1) your own clumsy, smiling technique and (2) recent warnings issued to retail stores by the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

This is a nervous, snarling age distinguished by the insult direct and the drop dead chaff. About the only affable, agreeable persons left in it are those about to commit a rubber check, says the association. Individuals filled with sweetness, light and a yen for cash are obviously up to no good, it adds, blowing the whistle on Pollyanna.

Again, this is an era contentious and argumentative to the point of Vishinsky. Say "two and two make four" on any street corner and some curmudgeon who has heard of Einstein will step up and try to make something of it.

But the bad check artist bumbles every time by agreeing with anything—everything—said by the party on whom the swindle is about to be perpetrated, the NRDGA points out.

Obviously, you don't catch a man with real money in the bank yessing the hired hands and imitating Lord Chesterfield. You don't catch this S. Legree nodding his head in approval at the first fool who says grass is green. Grass green? In this heat? After this drought? Are you nuts? Any idiot with eyes can see that it's brown! Gimme the cash!

Was Scrooge polite? Did his checks bounce? Let this be a lesson to the mob that wants easy money: act normal, snarl, crack the whip. Tell the clerk you want the money in tens and twenties, to step lively or he'll be looking for a new job and wait while he forces the money on you.

Despite the continued high level of employment in the United States and the swollen national income, increasing numbers of confidence men and women are trying to perform the modern alchemist's trick of transmuting rubber into cash, the NRDGA reports.

With so much money lying around just for the working, many persons still prefer to retain their amateur status and make it the easy way. Retail stores are a favorite rite target for the rubber merchants, the association says.

But, it adds, there are other tests than the rudeness test to help the retail store in assessing the elastic content of a proffered check.

Nothing spoils a bad-check pitch more surely than a hard luck story, says the flinty hearted association. The mahager of the local emporium knows every angle because his wife listens to all the wash-board weepers and keeps him posted. So he doesn't want to hear the real thing during office hours.

The lesson here is not to tell the floor walker you need to cash a check because the little woman is dying, the kids are starving and the car is out of gas, or he will smell a rat and it may be you.

Just tell him you need the money for a crap shoot, a weekend in Atlantic City or any other sound, likely and logical explanation that comes to mind. Then step back and collect.

Also, if you have larceny in mind, don't mention "alleged friendship with company executives" when writing the check. Company executives don't have friends.

The National Retail Dry Goods Association adds an ominous note to its warning. Too many checks received in payment of charge accounts are bouncing, too. "An increase in the amount of such checks merits attention and may be an indication of increased collection difficulties in the offing," the association declares.

Does the association mean we can't afford all this prosperity?

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 — Practically everybody in Washington is taking a hand in trying to determine who should keep their government jobs in view of current budget trimming and the change in Administration.

It's a problem that will wind up in the White House at the present rate, although Congress has the final word on Civil Service rules and regulations.

The major beef is coming from long-time Civil Service employees who are being ousted from their jobs while temporary employees retain their grip on the Federal payroll.

Some employees with as much as LEWIS, JR. 30 years service are jobless today in what appears to be one of the worst mixups in the history of government employment.

Various private groups are closing ranks on the issue and Washington is the scene of protest meetings, private grumbling and harassed debates on the subject.

The current argument centers around the career versus the temporary job holder. There is more to the argument than who has the "right" to stay on the payroll. Actually, as I have long contended, nobody has any "right" to a Federal job; rather, it is a "privilege" for which the individual should prove himself worthy.

Be that as it may, certain procedures have been set up through the years intended to protect the job-interests of the loyal, honest, hard-working government careerist against the vicissitudes of politics and unjust personal discrimination. Here's one of the major points involved in the present ruckus.

Congress, in voting funds for the various agencies, goes into great detail on how the money is to be spent. It actually sets up spending practices for each department in each agency, listing the exact job and rate of pay in every division and subdivision. Very little leeway is left for the head of the department when it comes to shifting jobs and payrolls around.

For instance, say in the Department of Agriculture Surplus Food Buying Division, Congress will authorize salaries for ten employees of a certain grade, six in another, and so on. Perhaps it will authorize 15 employees in a temporary category who will work on such things as Point Four, Mutual Security or other functions which are on a temporary, rather than permanent basis. The head of the bureau involved could not pay the occupant of a permanent job with the money provided for temporary employees.

The rub comes when Congress, with an eye towards economy, slices from the budget the salaries for a number of permanent employees. Congress does this because it has learned that if the budget cuts are to be effective from a long range standpoint, some of the permanent category jobs must be cut out. But of course Congress only does so in cases where it feels the jobs no longer are necessary to proper functioning of government.

Some temporary employees are cut out of the payroll also, but some are not and this is what is gripping the career workers. Many of the temporary employees who stay fastened to the Federal payroll are in job categories where salaries range from three to five thousand dollars annually. A 30 year career employee, if he is worth his salt, has long since passed this pay level. In many cases, even if a careerist wanted to take a temporary job with the attendant salary cut he could not "bump" the present job holder because Congress specifically provided that the job has no Civil Service status.

Nobody, not even the career employee, argues with the right of the new President to hire his own policy-making team. When the job-shuffling gets below the policy level the trouble begins, as the White House has discovered.

What probably will result eventually is some executive action to assure that as much as possible, career Civil Service workers whose jobs are abolished will be able to shift into so-called "temporary" jobs. Which is as it should be, assuming that the careerist won that status legitimately by competitive examination and not simply by being "blanketed" into Civil Service by one of the recent Democratic Presidents. The legitimate career workers should get the preference when the number of jobs is being cut. That's one of the reasons the Civil Service System was established.

Your Birthday by STELLA

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14 —

Born today, you are more a person of thoughts, ideas and day-dreaming than one of action. Yet, if you are thrust into a position where you are forced to exert yourself, you are able to organize your plans efficiently and push them through.

It is just that you really prefer to let the rest of the world do the pushing, while you sit back and plan! You are not too shrewd in business and if you are going to make money you need to have a good manager to keep things moving.

History, science, philosophy, literature—all the world of ideas—attracts you. You would be happiest, probably, if you never had to earn a living, but could spend your time reading, listening to good music, and dreaming your dreams of future greatness! Especially interested in the occult and mysterious, you might wish to delve into this deeply at some period in your life.

The stars have given you a keen talent for analysis and you know how to look at a problem, size it up, and then cut straight to the heart of the matter, scissoring red tape as you progress. This will make you valuable as an executive or as an educational administrator.

Although you are not demonstrative in showing your affections, and have deep emotions and could not be content to live without a marriage partner and your own children. You will be happiest if you wed at an early age and have a family of your own to care for and adore. It is one of the ways to inspire you to work hard. You will make any kind of personal sacrifice for their happiness—even to working hard!

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

A Child Who's Smart At Home But Slow In Work At School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

EVERY now and then, I receive a letter about a child who can spell a list of words correctly or do a number of sums at home without a mistake then, on the very next day at school, get most of the words or sums wrong.

Of a boy out of school in his second year because of serious illness, and who failed in the third grade last year, the mother writes:

"I helped him all I could at home that year, and have also worked hard with him this past term. He doesn't enjoy school work and never has. His teacher said he was capable of better work than he did. He does well in oral work but is slow in written work."

"He also did much better work at home than at school. He would bring an arithmetic paper with all the problems wrong. His father re-copied the problems and had him sit down and work them. In ten minutes they were finished and all correct. At the close of the year, when he was reviewing for spelling tests, he could write as many as seventy-five words at home without missing one, but at school he seldom wrote twenty without missing two or three."

"The same things happened in all his work. He would review a page in his work book at home and have no trouble at all, but at school he would do poorly in filling it out. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

May Feel Harried

In part, here's how I replied: Because of this boy's earlier discouragement and failures at school he, no doubt, gets emotionally disturbed when he spells the words at school by writing

Limited Entries To Compete For Circuit Honors

LANGHORNE, Sept. 14 — The starting field in the 250-mile Grand National Circuit Championship — for late model stock sedans — scheduled for the Langhorne Speedway next Sunday afternoon will be limited to the fastest fifty cars according to an announcement by Bill France proxy or NASCAR.

Al Gerber asked for a decision when the response became so great from the drivers.

Saturday afternoon time trials will be staged and positions in the classic — the longest every sanctioned this season by NASCAR — will be assigned as a result of these times.

Herschel Buchanan, of Shreveport, La., and Lewis Grier "Buddy" Shuman, of Charlotte, N. C. were among the latest received at the Langhorne office. Buchanan was third man in the grid last September following Lee Petty and Bill Blair to the finish line. Last season in Grand National competition he never finished worse than eighth.

This season the 45-year-old auto salesman has his eye on the big one, the Langhorne "250".

"Buddy" Shuman is the self-styled "world's greatest race driver". Last season he was 10th in the National standing, sixth in the modified division. This 38-year-old veteran of the raceways likes the longer grinds and he is very much at home around the world's fastest mile track at Langhorne. He will be facing a keen field of competition come Sunday.

Levittown Man Named To Coach St. Ann's Squad

Bernie Bradley, of Levittown, has been named coach of the St. Ann's A. A. gridgers. Bradley, who has had coaching experience with Villanova College, took over the team last week and has been drilling the candidates with his system of coaching.

Thirty candidates have reported for the team and every evening the squad seems to be increasing. There is a possibility that Coach Bradley will carry 36 players on his squad. Several of the candidates are from Burlington and Mt. Holly.

Present indications are that the "Saints" will open their season on Wednesday evening, Sept. 23, on the Bristol High School field. The opposing team will be either Olney Vets or Wissinoming.

Tomorrow evening, representatives of the St. Ann's with other team managers with the hope of reviving the Greater Northeast Football League.

Playhouse Producer Ends 13-Year Lease

NEW HOPE, Sept. 14 — Thirteen years of play production came to an end on Saturday when Theron Bamberger completed his lease at the Bucks County Playhouse.

Bamberger, producer-managing director of the summer theater, announced that in the future the Playhouse will produce its own shows, with the stockholders, including two New York stage managers, as part of the new Playhouse set-up.

He announced plans for another summer theater to be located somewhere in Bucks county, but did not disclose details.

Reserve Bank Sees Downward Trend In U. S. Business

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 — More and more observers seem to feel that business is near a turning point, the Federal Reserve Bank announced today.

"Whether the long-postponed downturn has arrived or is in the immediate offing no one can say for sure," the bank said. "Businessmen, government officials and others have been looking for signs of a downturn for a long time. They now seem to be having more success in finding them."

The bank pointed out that the rate of steel output has been below the level of last spring for some time. Automobile production seems to be too high to be sustained and proposed housing has been dropping. Businessmen have shown signs that they are carefully watching inventory.

What makes the picture confusing, according to the reserve bank, is that these signs appear in the midst of unprecedented prosperity. Unemployment is currently as low as at any time since World War II.
